Dear Parents, Students and Staff

At this time of year we reflect on the journey of our graduates over their time at QBC and it is with some sadness that we say farewell. In some ways this reflection took on greater meaning as we celebrated our 20th year and looked at what has been achieved and how far the school has come from those early beginnings. Yet, no matter how much we analyse the buildings and grounds and policies that define an educational institution, the overriding influence is from the people who have graced these corridors. Each individual has added to the character that defines the school, which in turn influences each of us in our lives within our families and communities. The time spent here with staff and friends and peers has played a significant part in moulding and shaping each of us to be more equipped to not only face life, but to embrace it with a strength of character that shows self-reliance, optimism, courage and compassion.

We congratulate our students elected to serve as Head Boy, Zacc Lloyd and Head Girl, Hannah Van Biljon and their Deputies, Paul Waldby and Emily Dring for 2017. We have every confidence that they will be outstanding representatives of the student body and the school.

Whilst there are still some sporting and social events left on the calendar for 2016, I encourage students to focus on their studies for the examinations taking place during this term.

As we look to the past 20 years and review the changes that have taken place, the vision that has remained constant and shaped us enormously is the aim to provide a place of education where the word of God is taught.

Mark 15:16 ‘Go into all the world and proclaim the gospel to all creation’.

Red cakes! Raising awareness for Haemophilia
A rare genetic bleeding disorder
As part of the Year 11 Geography ATAR course, students have been looking at Global Networks and Interconnections, including a case study on wine as a global commodity. This year’s field trip saw the students visit Upper Reach Winery in the Swan Valley to get a firsthand look at how wine is made and then sold to the public. This field trip to the Swan Valley gave the students an insight into the best climate for growing grapes and also the different soil types used at the winery. Students also learnt about the marketing and sales side of the wine industry.
